

WHERE IDEAS AND COLLABORATION THRIVE

A WHOLE WORLD OF SUSTAINABLE SOLUTIONS

The critical outcome for all the pilot projects in the Living Lab is the fact that they produce innovative and transformational solutions to real world problems, and that those solutions are scalable and transferable beyond the University. From climate change research and inspiring behaviour change to enhancing biodiversity, the Living Lab opens the door to a whole world of sustainable solutions.

As an educational institution, the Living Lab is encouraging us to think and operate differently; to take the theory from the classroom and apply it to real world situations. Funding, feasibility, research, testing and delivery are all undertaken by the project team, with results shared beyond the University to provide the evidence for real change.

You can apply to the Living Lab at any time by completing the application form online:

sustainability.leeds.ac.uk/the-living-lab

Launched this year, the Living Lab is an exciting University-wide programme that uses our University as a test-bed for the co-creation of sustainable solutions. It relies on collaboration between students, academic and operational staff.

WHERE IDEAS AND COLLABORATION THRIVE

A WHOLE WORLD OF SUSTAINABLE SOLUTIONS

The critical outcome for all the pilot projects in the Living Lab is the fact that they produce innovative and transformational solutions to real world problems, and that those solutions are scalable and transferrable to the city and beyond. From climate change research and inspiring behaviour change to enhancing biodiversity, the Living Lab opens the door to a whole world of sustainable solutions.

As an educational institution, the Living Lab is encouraging us to think and operate differently; to take the theory from the classroom and apply it to real world situations. Funding, feasibility, research, testing and delivery are all undertaken by the project team, with results shared beyond the university to provide the evidence for real change.

You can apply to the Living Lab at any time by completing the application form online:

sustainability.leeds.ac.uk/the-living-lab